The program which is divided into two parts, will consist of one-act plays, musical numbers, and a dramatic monologue by Guy Beamer, Biglerville humorist. This will be Mr. Beamer's last performance before he enrolls in a school of radio dramas in New York city.

"The Valiant," the first of the one-act plays, will be presented with the following cast of characters: George Dick, as "Dyke," a condemned prisoner, and Albert Ebbert as "Father Daly," the prison chaplain, will play the roles which they played in the original performances given several years ago by the Peter Pan players in several contests. "Thirst," a short dramatic sketch, will feature three male characters, Leo Baker, William Gindlesperger and Donald Lady.

Local Nursery School Opens To Accompaniment of Lusty Wails; Some Are 'Homesick'

To the accompaniment of loud, lusty wails from a few home-sick children and the noise of wagons and roller skates skidding across the floor, Gettysburg's nursery school, sponsored by the Adams county emergency education council, opened at 9 o'clock this morning on the second floor of the fire engine house, East Middle street.

The opening was anything but auspicious, but those in charge were not discouraged and predicted that the 12-week sessions would benefit all children accepted.

In the first place, only 12 children were accepted for the opening sessions this week, about the same number of disappointed children being returned home.

No Cook on Hand

Secondly, no cook had as yet been assigned to prepare the hot and cold lunches which will be served the children each day.

And in the third place, no cooking utensils and no food were on hand to prepare today's lunches.

But the three young women, the Misses Dorothy Conover, Aspers, Kathryn G. Cashman, New Chester, and Ruby Clapsaddle, Gettysburg R. D. in charge of the school, plunged valiantly into their task and the larger task of first overcoming the obstacles.

While the Misses Conover and Clapsaddle busied themselves with the children in an effort to direct their play activities, Miss Cashman scurried around to find materials and cooking utensils to prepare the noonday lunch. After she secured the necessary equipment and foodstuffs, Miss Cashman began preparing the hot lunch.

CLAIMS CONDON WAS SHADOWED BY HAUPTMANN

Salesgirl Is Surprise Witness Against German Alien at Today's Session.

DEFENSE TAKEN BY SURPRISE

(Copyright, 1935, by AP)

Flemington, N. J., Jan. 14.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann today was identified by a surprise witness as the man who shadowed Dr. John P. Condon in the Bronx prior to the payment of the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom.

The witness was Miss Hildegard Olga Alexander, a resident of the Bronx. She said she saw Hauptmann watching Doctor Condon in a telephone office in the waiting room of the Fordham station of the New York Central railroad.

She fixed the time as sometime between the time that she learned Doctor Condon was the ransom intermediary and the time it was announced the money had been paid.

"Who else was in this station besides you and Doctor Condon?" a prosecutor asked her.

Identifies Hauptmann

"I saw a man looking at Doctor Condon," she said.

She explained the man was 10 to 15 feet away and said she saw him again a few evenings later.

"We was the man X X X?"

"I say the man was Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

Hauptmann turned a slight red. His wife, sitting nearby, paled.

Miss Alexander said she was 26 years old and described herself as a salesgirl and dress model.

She testified her attention was attracted to the man by "the fact he was very obviously watching him (Doctor Condon) very significantly."

Edward J. Reddy, chief defense counsel, questioned her closely on the railroad lines running through the Bronx and defended his right to inquire along this line with the assertion:

"I want to prove that she was never there and that she doesn't know the lines that run through there, although she has lived in the Bronx all her life."

Miss Alexander's testimony took the defense by surprise after Albert Osborn, Sr., a handwriting expert, had testified that the handwriting evidence against Hauptmann was "irresistible, unanswerable and overwhelming."

The assertion brought a challenge from the defense.

CALL OF GOD HEARD GLADLY SAYS PASTOR

Revivals Depend Upon Pulpit for Origin Says Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble.

TEXT SELECTED FROM ST. MARK

"The fact remains that the real work of the kingdom is not done by famous clergymen, but by men unknown and unsung. Few important revivals have had their origin in the prominent city pulpit," said the Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble, pastor of the Benderville Lutheran church, Sunday morning.

His text was taken from Mark 12:37. "And the common people heard him gladly."

"It is to be expected that multitudes followed Jesus. He spoke with authority. He had something to offer. He did not disappoint. His audience departed satisfied, conscious of their immediate blessings. His message was one of life and hence his instant appeal became concerned about life, man's greatest possession.

Christ Heard

"It is significant that the people heard him gladly. Christ enjoyed this following before he was recognized as the Messiah. In fact, even his own disciples did not understand his mission until after the crucifixion and resurrection. To the disciples he was Master, to the multitudes that followed, teacher. Indeed a master teacher in whose hands was the issue of life.

"It is not strange that he attracted to himself, the common people, or that he cheered and inspired them. He needed not a temple made with hands. They gladly came to the desert, mountain or lake. People will go just as far to hear the same message today if given the opportunity. Stupid psychologists and credulous historians and philosophers may prate about changed conditions, but man remains fundamentally the same. The most potent and dynamic Christian leadership in the past has come from men of simple words, possessing unquestioned consecration to God. Christ-like leaders have always enjoyed a following. Men

Amelia Earhart Spans Pacific And Pays Visit to Her Mother

Los Angeles, Jan. 14 (AP).—The conqueror of the Pacific ocean, Amelia Earhart Putnam, flew here Sunday from Oakland, California, for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Amy O. Earhart.

Immediately after alighting Miss Earhart ordered that her plane be refueled and declared she would continue to Washington Sunday night if weather conditions permitted. She said she would confer with weather officials and check reports first.

Lands at 4:23 (P. S. T.)

The aviatrix, who Saturday added to her list of laurels by flying alone from Honolulu to Oakland, set her high-winged monoplane down at the Union Air Terminal, Burbank, at 4:23 p. m., Pacific standard time (7:28 eastern standard time). She had left the Oakland municipal airport at 1:21 p. m. (Pacific time).

Bad flying weather over the Sierra mountains and a muddy stretch near the Oakland airport's runway had combined to thwart Miss Earhart's original plan of flying directly to Washington. Instead, she decided to pay Mrs. Earhart a brief visit.

Delayed Hours

Miss Earhart's departure from Oakland had been delayed by several hours when her trans-Pacific plane became mired at the take-off. She hopped off from the Oakland field just 23 hours and 50 minutes.

RELIEF BOARD ENTERTAINS AT LUNCHEON HERE

The Adams county emergency relief board entertained the staff and board members of Area 4, comprising Adams, Cumberland, Franklin and Fulton counties, at a luncheon, Saturday noon, served by the Homecraft club of the Y. W. C. A.

Following the luncheon Dr. Harold A. Miller, director of the medical relief board of Pennsylvania, gave an interesting talk on the medical program, emphasizing statistical records and comparing the economical and social adjustments of relief clients in the past with the present.

The local staff consists of Mrs. Rebecca Lawyer, toastmistress; Mrs. Rosalie Ruffensperger, Miss Elizabeth Bassett, Miss Helen Cunningham and Mrs. Verna Myers.

LOCAL CAGERS BEATEN

The McSherrystown K. of C. basketball team downed the Bream and Plank quintet of the Adams county league at McSherrystown over the week-end, 20-19.

MANAGER TRANSFERRED

L. H. Winsert, for several years manager of American Stores here, was transferred today from his position as manager of the store in center square to a store in Harrisburg. M. C. Haverstock is acting manager of the store.

New York, Jan. 14 (AP).—Something new in malefaction—the "dating up" of a victim for robbery—was charged Sunday against Harold Mathias, an actor.

A 16-year-old clerk named William Mathias told in Towns court Sunday that the actor had robbed him of his valuables, consisting of a watch, January 8. According to the clerk, the actor then asked him where he worked, how much salary he got and when he got paid. The actor thereupon made a date with Mathias for Saturday, at which time he said he would give the lad back his watch and take his $12 salary.

CONCEDE NAZI WIN IN SAAR

Leader of Opposition Says He Will Protest to League of Nations.

(Copyright, 1935, By A. P.)

Saarbrücken, Saar Basin Territory, Jan. 13.—The Common Front in the Saar, anti-Nazi organization opposing reunion with Germany, virtually admitted defeat for their cause Sunday night at the end of voting in the plebiscite to determine the territory's future status.

Max Braun, leader of this opposition, said he would protest to the League of Nations' council that the plebiscite was neither "free, uninfluenced, nor secret."

Three Choices For Voters

The ballots were cast Sunday to determine whether the Saar would be returned to Germany, become a part of France, or remain under the jurisdiction of the League of Nations.

Braun, the socialist leader, in a fiery mood, called the vote "the worst pseudo-democratic election ever held outside of Germany's borders."

He made his statement after more than 500,000 men and women, in orderly silence, entered the plebiscite booths to cast their ballots.

Officials Are Satisfied

Despite Braun's statements the neutral voting bureau presidents expressed firm belief no charge of fraud could be brought by the German Front or its opposition. They scrutinized every move of the eligibles and were satisfied the ballot was free and secret.

The secretary of the plebiscite commission said semi-officially that ninety-eight per cent of those eligible took part in the voting, which he believed to be an all-time record for any country with a secret ballot.

In contrast with the blaring campaign conducted by the Nazis and the opposition, there was no martial music or rallying to the attack. But Braun's dissatisfaction was manifest. He declared responsible quarters had "failed miserably to live up to their guarantees for a free election."

He arraigned the Red Cross nurses who aided invalids in marking their ballots as "tools of Hitler," and charged police with having named members of three Hitlerite organizations to help run the plebiscite. The Red Cross was active everywhere in aiding to get out the huge vote.

always had time to receive the multitude and heart to understand their problems. They asked and he gave the "bread of life." Let us not marvel that they heard him gladly. People are just as anxious today to come face to face with Christ. The pastor must lead the way.

"Most revivals depend upon the pulpit for their origin. The little man, full of jealousy and conceit, can hardly inspire his people to a humble and contrite spirit. A people who are properly shepherded do not need periodic seasons of spiritual awakening. Every service every prayer, every hymn, every sermon ought to have definite value to the worshipper. If not, they have become as sounding brass and tinkling cymbals and defeat their every purpose. The normal Christian growth consists in an increasing loyalty and devotion to the ideals of Jesus. The great seasons of the church year ought to be observed as the historic steps in a unified Christian experience.

"Let not the earnest cry, 'Lord, I have no one to help me—but another steps down before me.' The common people will still hear Him gladly. Let us as pastors rather mend our nets and cast as the Master directs. 'Thou alone hath the words of life.'" truly given to God do not beg for an audience or cast discredit or suspicion upon the church by deeds incompatible with the ideals of Jesus.

Call of God

"The pastor and church with a message vital to life still attract. Few outstanding clergymen beg for an audience, whether they are internationally known or hidden away in some obscure balliwick. People will soon discover the way, be it to a crowded city street or wayside church. One might as well attempt to hide the sun as conceal the pulpit fraught with life. The fact remains that the real work of the Kingdom is done not by famous clergymen, but by men unknown and unsung. Few important revivals have had their origin in the prominent city pulpit.

Pastor Must Lead

"The people heard him gladly. Christ was the message, therefore he could give. Pity the people of a pastor whose only qualification is a sheep skin. No one can give that which he does not possess. How difficult the Christ, 'I am come that ye might live!' The spiritually hungry weren't fed on sociology, psychology, philosophy or economic problems, the too frequent substitute for the much needed 'words of life.' He saw a woman in sin and changed her life. The sick and the broken came to him and they left filled with the spirit of God. Christ

Montana Rides Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

SYNOPSIS: Brother Pascual arrives at the camp of the bandit Mateo Rubiz just as that worthy, who only steals from the rich, divides the plunder from his latest escapade. Pascual forces two of Mateo's followers to abandon a duel to death, and then tells Mateo that he is not made his long, dusty journey for pleasure. Mateo drives out his band, and prepares to listen to Pascual.

Chapter Three

STOLEN CROWN

They faced one another across the long table.

"Tell me about your tumble, first," suggested Rubiz. "Well, even the mountain sheep break their necks now and again. If something hit you near the eye, thank your God that you are not blinded."

"The gun butt hit the bone over my eye; that was all," said the friar.

"Gun butt?" said Rubiz, suddenly scowling. Then he pointed. "Gun butt, eh? And what hit the other side of your face?"

"The point of a knife," answered Brother Pascual. "But it was nothing."

The bandit began to steal around the table as though he hoped to surprise news in the very mind of his big friend.

"And your head? The bandage, there?" he demanded.

"That is not very bad, either. The bullet glanced; I have a hard skull—"

"The butt of a gun—a knife—a bullet. Splendor of God! what fools have forgotten that you are the friend of Mateo Rubiz?"

"The governor of Duraya and his soldiers."

"General Ignacio Estrada? Where did he dare to beat you?"

"In the Church of Our Lady of Guadalupe."

"The governor—beats you—in the church? Am I going mad? What were you doing?"

"Fighting a little, Mateo, to keep the governor and the rest of the masked men from stealing the emerald crown of Our Lady."

"How was he known, if his face was masked?"

"The holy bishop recognized the voice of the principal robber."

"Bishop Emiliano?"

"Yes."

"Ah," cried Rubiz, "that little man may be as thin as a knife, but he can cut as deep. He knows me, does he not?"

The friar smiled a little.

"But this Estrada—what do you tell me about him? No good man ever wore the name of general—" except Bonita Juarez—except Bonita Juarez—God rest his soul!"

"God rest his soul!" echoed the friar, devoutly. "But General Estrada came into the church. The poor monks ran away. The holy bishop recognized the voice of the general and called out his name; and Estrada desired to leave no witness behind him. He struck Bishop Emiliano to the floor."

"That poor bald head! Did it crack like an egg shell?" asked Rubiz.

"But Our Lady had softened the blow or made it glance. The bishop lives, and the governor sits in his fort, with the crown of Our Lady and the ten emeralds in it."

"But you were there yourself?" demanded Rubiz, his face swelling and purpling with emotion.

"It had taken me a little time to get to my feet because I had been very deep in a prayer. I came shouting at them. But they struck down the holy bishop. I took a pair of the soldiers and knocked their heads together."

"San Juan de Capistrano! If only I had been there to see and help!"

"The two soldiers fell down. I knocked over another, but I tripped on him, and he stabbed at me and put the point of his knife in my cheek. As I was getting up a gun exploded; I felt the blow on my head as the bullet struck; and another man hit me over the eye with the butt of a gun. I tried to keep my wits, but they flew away into darkness like a flock of crows, and I fell on my face."

"May they rot with a blight!" I'll put them on their faces! If I don't cut off their eyelids and stake them out in the sun, my name is not—"

"Mateo, be still. The bishop called for me the next day—this morning. He said to me: 'If I complain of the stealing, then all the laws will gather; the jewels will be scattered through the land. It is better to carry word about this to Mateo Rubiz, because he will not allow this thing to be.'"

"Did he say that?" exclaimed Rubiz, leaping to his feet. "No wonder he's a bishop. But what does he want me to do? I shall go to Duraya and cut the throat of the general the first time he leaves the fort at night!"

"That would leave the emerald crown still safely inside the fort, Mateo."

"Hail! That is true! But, Pascual, the bishop doesn't think that I can fly like a bird or dig like a mole to get into the fort and then stand invisible inside it till I've found the emeralds and take them? Does he think that?"

The friar sighed. He looked down at his own great hands and was silent.

"But that is what he wishes!" muttered Rubiz. He turned pale.

"No single man in this world could do the thing!" he cried. "Look at me, Pascual, and tell me that I am right!"

"You have many men," said Brother Pascual softly, as though he wished that his words might become part of the other man's thought.

"I have men? But for such work numbers are a loss, not an advantage. Oh, Pascual, two men together may outface the devil; but one man alone—in the fort of Duraya—"

"Is there no other man?" asked the friar.

"There is one other, but he could not come."

"Could money buy him?"

"He is rich."

"For the sake of Our Lady?"

"He is a gringo dog," cried Rubiz, pacing the floor. "And Our Lady means nothing to him. Besides, if he were to try to ride south into Mexico, a whisper of his coming would yell out under his feet, 'El Keed!' That is how he is hated and wanted by the Rurales, by the soldiers!"

Mateo tells Pascual, tomorrow, more about El Keed.

Methodist Cagers

Beat Quincy 32-31

A goal by R. Utz and a foul toss by Abell gave the Methodist A. C. hoopers a thrilling 32-31 decision over the Quincy orphanage cagers, at Quincy, Saturday afternoon.

The locals trailed 18-14 at half time but always kept within striking distance of the lead and spurred at the end of the game to clinch victory.

Tonight the Methodists will play a double-header at Fairfield, meeting the Fairfield independents.

Wings Capture League Contest

Victory number eleven was recorded by the Gettysburg Fleet-Wings cagers over the week-end, the Wings downing the West Baltimore hoopers in a Baltimore city league game, 47-22.

The Wings' triumph enabled them to stay in a deadlock with the Empire Laundry cagers for second place, but one game behind the league-leading Polish American quintet.

With the entire lineup breaking into the scoring, the Wings got off to a fast start and rolled up a 22-10 lead in the first half. The first half was but a repetition of the first with the Wings never seriously pressed.

Hugh Hoke bagged five goals to lead the scoring. Williams featured for the vanquished tribe.

HOW Are Your KIDNEYS?

THE kidneys are the scavengers and they work day and night separating the poisons from the blood. Here is what a diuretic stimulant of Dr. Pierce's did:

"Before the birth of both my babies I had dizzy spells and headaches, and my feet would swell," said Mrs. Eleanor Nickle, 22 Ridge Road, Chester (Trainer) Pa. "Each time I took only one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Anuric and I certainly felt like a new person, as my kidneys were in a healthy state again. Other expectant mothers should try Dr. Pierce's Anuric. All druggists carry Anuric. Price $1.50 and 65 cents. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial size. Ask for our free booklet describing the Invalid's Hotel.

JERSEY CITY 5 HERE TONIGHT

Tonight the Gettysburg Fleet-Wings will meet another stiff opponent on the hotel court when the Jersey City Big Five appear here.

Claiming the independent championship of New Jersey, the Skeeters boast an unusually strong array of professional cagers, many of whom are ex-American league stars. The visitors have been on a long road trip and boast a record of twenty wins and but four defeats against some of the strongest teams in this section.

Another thrilling preliminary game is promised when the undefeated Sweetland team clashes with Biglerville in a battle for first place in the Adams county league. Both teams have won two league tilts in as many starts and both will be eager for victory.

The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

MANY SEEKING POST AT MOUNT

Since the announcement of Arthur H. Malloy's resignation as coach of Mt. St. Mary's college, the chairman of the board of athletic control has received numerous letters and telegrams from applicants from many sections of the country for the position.

It would appear that some of these mentors are either out of a job or that they wish a change.

List of Applicants

Among some of the applicants on file are:

Dr. Ray Van Orman, formerly head coach at Johns Hopkins university.

Tony Comerford, who guided the athletic affairs at Loyola college for a number of years.

Joseph H. McCormick, who has just resigned from Dickinson college as athletic director.

Joseph Lawlor, graduate of the Catholic university, where he played baseball, basketball and football, and for several years athletic director of the Jessup (Pa.) high school, where he has been most successful in that section of Pennsylvania.

Joseph McNamara, who has been Joe McKenney's first assistant at Boston college.

ATTENTION, BOSTON!

New York (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics must have missed Max Bishop. They're pointing out now that a good lead-off man was needed in the early months when the A's were getting scant results from Bob Johnson's home runs, and Johnson and Jimmy Fox trotted around—with the bases empty.

MAROONS WIN FROM SCOTLAND

High School Quintet Captures Third Straight Game Saturday, 23 to 20.

Gettysburg high school's cagers won their third straight game Saturday by downing the Scotland industrial school cage team on the latter's court, 23-20.

The score was close throughout and the Maroons were forced to put forth their best efforts to gain victory.

The first quarter was hotly contested and ended in a deadlock at 4-all. Gettysburg gained a one-point advantage in the second quarter to lead 8-7 at half time. Socia, Guise and Bushman looped all the points for the Maroons in the first half.

Bushman and Socia featured the Gettysburg attack in the final half and between them looped eleven points in the final periods. At the close of the third quarter Gettysburg led, 16-14.

The undefeated Maroon and White scrubs romped away with their four straight in the preliminary tilt by easily defeating the Scotland reserves, 33-10. At half time the locals led, 18-6. Stock, Jones and Metague starred for their respective teams.

Friday evening the Maroons will play a conference game with Carlisle high at Carlisle.

Out of the Past

Happenings of days gone by as chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg
Times the files reveal.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The Legislature of this State re-assembled on Monday last. Nothing of interest has, as yet, been transacted.—Numerous petitions for the repeal of the school law have been presented to the House; amongst which, were several by Mr. McSherry.

A fire broke out on Saturday afternoon in the extensive Coach-making establishment of Mr. D. Little, in this borough, which for a time threatened the destruction of much valuable property; but from the calmness of the air, and the indefatigable exertions of the citizens, the fire was confined to the Plating-shop, Blacksmith shop, Coal and Lumber-house—which were destroyed.

The House of Representatives of the U. States, in a manner the most complimentary and gratifying to the feelings of Mr. Adams, ordered to be printed fifty thousand copies of his Oration, in honor of the memory of Lafayette.—Nat. Int.

Married.—On the 16th ult., by the Rev. Mr. Vander Sloot, Mr. John Pikes (of Jacob), of Huntingtown township, Adams county, to Miss Susanna Mumper, of York county.

On the 20th, by the Rev. Mr. Gutelius, Mr. Abraham Wagner, to Miss Barbara Sell—both of Germany township.

On the 25th by the same, Mr. Mathias Collins, to Miss Eliza Stewart—both of Germany township.

On the same day, by the same, George Haar, to Miss Sarah Doll—both of the neighborhood of Abbotts-Town.

On the same day, by the same, Mr. David Winter, to Miss Caroline Krane—both of the neighborhood of Little-Town.

On Tuesday week, by the same, Mr. Thomas Ehrhart, to Miss Eliza Heagy, both of this county.

On Thursday evening last, by the Rev. B. S. Schneck, Mr. Charles Swartz to Miss Barbara Hartman—both of Mummaburg.

On the 13th, by the Rev. J. Ruthrauff, Mr. George George to Miss Anna Maria Bishop—both of Gettysburg.

On the 8th inst., by the Rev. Samuel Gutelius, Mr. Thomas Ickes to Miss Mary Henry—both of Abbotts-Town.

On the same day by the same, Mr. Samuel Manges, to Miss Juliana Deyser—both of Little-Town.

The Directors of the U. States Bank have unanimously re-elected Nicholas Biddle, Esq. President of that institution.

And when Gallio was the deputy of Achaia, the Jews made insurrection with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the judgment seat.

Saying, This fellow persuaded men to worship God contrary to the law.

And when Paul was now about open his mouth, Gallio said unto the Jews, If it were a matter of wrong or wicked lewdness, O ye Jews, reason would that I should bear with you:

But if it be a question of words and names, and of your law, look ye to it; for I will be no judge of such matters.

And he drave them from the judgment seat.
Then all the Greeks took Sosthenes, the chief ruler of the synagogue, and beat him before the judgment seat. And Gallio cared for none of those things.

A DINING-ROOM PREFERENCE

I do not like the shadowy gloom
Of a candle-lighted dining-room
Although the latest magazines
Insist on such solemnity,
When I sit down to pork and beans
I want the lights turned on for me.

I know that Art would have us
grope
Through life with little light or hepe;
That in the shadow and the gloom
Artistic souls seem most at ease,
But still I want a lighted room
When I am eating ham and peas.

I know the costliest tables spread
Are lit with flickering candles red,
And things obscure are smiled upon

And beauty plain is common trash
But still I want the lights turned on
When I am eating corned beef

AMUSEMENTS

MAJESTIC

Out of the drama of the courtroom, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios have brought the story of "Evelyn Prentice," co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, at the Majestic theatre, today and tomorrow.

The picture marks the third appearance of Powell and Miss Loy as a co-starring team and is the industry's response to the request for a reappearance of the popular pair who played in "Manhattan Melodrama" and "The Thin Man." "Evelyn Prentice" presents Powell at a criminal attorney with a lovely and dutiful wife who, through a momentary indiscretion, becomes involved in a scandalous murder case.

The wife, portrayed by Miss Loy, sees another woman brought to trial for a crime that she, herself, believes she has committed. She and the "other woman" both

IMAGINATION

SUCCESS in business, as well as in life, is traceable more to imagination than anything else. Willing plodders there are aplenty. But where are the men and women with ideas—with imagination? Tens of thousands of jobs await them all over the world!

Probably not one in a hundred—perhaps not one in a thousand—who applies for a position, has any ideas as to why he applies, outside the fact that he wants to earn money. That is one reason why it is so difficult to fill any vacant position.

But let a man of imagination, or one teeming with ideas, present himself and he will be received with acclaim! Men who have built great enterprises started with practical ideas, floating them to success over a sea of imagination.

Men with ideas will always get a hearing. I recall the incident of a young man who applied for a position in a publishing house. He was ignored by an under officer of the company, so he asked to see the president.

"What job do you want in this organization?" asked the president. "Yours!" replied the young man. Such an imagination appealed to the president, who was the head of a great publishing house. He took the chap in. In a few years he brought several authors to the house who became "best sellers" and he, himself, became one!

Manufacturers of a useful product are forever looking ahead, forever imagining improvements. Who would have predicted such a motor car or airplane as we have today, save those with immense imagination? And every year will find them improved.

Anyone who can go to a firm, or a manufacturer, or business and suggest a way to save money, or to improve what they have to sell, will be given a respectful, and happy hearing. Nothing is made so well that it cannot be bettered. There isn't a business on earth that cannot be improved.

No one has to hunt for another job who does his present job better than it has ever been done before. Ideas and imagination rule the world.

CHIC FOR SCHOOL GIRLS, BY MARIAN MARTIN

Marian Martin Sew Chart Included.

PATTERN 9230

Young six-to-sixteen-year-olds who like their frocks to be every bit as chic as their college-going sisters' will find this a dress to satisfy the most clothes-conscious young heart! They'll like the round-over-the-shoulder yoke, and the way the bodice is gathered on to it at the back to make it soft and full. And they'll approve heartily of the smart stitched pleats at the front and the puffed sleeves. If it is a school frock they are pining away over, make it of a printed or plain cotton broadcloth. But if they want a really dress-up frock, then pastel silk-crepe or lawn would be charming—and in that case the sleeves may be left open in pretty flares.

Pattern 9230 may be ordered only in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16. Size 12 requires 2½ yards 36-inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

It's just out! Our spring pattern book is a veritable fashion parade of smart styles to help you plan and make your spring wardrobe. Forty pages full of style news of interest to every woman... stunning designs for the house and for town wear! Among the special articles are descriptions of the spring fabrics and how to dress the small child. Send for your copy now! Price of book fifteen cents, but it costs only ten cents when ordered with a pattern. Pattern and book together, twenty-five cents.

Austin, Tex. (AP).—Charlie Coates, star center on the University of Texas football team, had completed nearly eight years of high school and college competition without seeing his name in the scoring column. In the Southern Methodist game Coates recovered a Texas fumble across the Mustang goal for Texas' only score, enabling his team to eke out a tie.

Monte Cristo Cell
Offered for Rent

Marseille, France (AP).—The "Count of Monte Cristo's" island from whose stony heights Alexandre Dumas' hero was tossed in a sack, is for rent to the highest bidder.

Bottom price demanded by the Chateau d'I's present owner, the French government, is 75,000 francs or about $4,500. After that, the privilege of stretching his legs in the cells occupied by the "count" goes to the bidder who will write the longest check.

Many important state prisoners have looked out upon the Mediterranean from the dungeon's melancholy windows. Among its "tenants" were Mirabeau, French revolutionary leader, and Philip of Orleans ("Philip Equality"), who voted for the execution of his cousin, King Louis XVI, only to have his own head chopped off in turn.

Chicago's Males
Losing to Women

Chicago (AP).—The women, it seems, have the men on the run in Chicago.

According to the latest census figures compiled by the University of Chicago, the nation's second city now has a population of 3,258,528 of which 1,631,181 are males for a pre-dominance of only 3,844. In 1910 there were 66,245 more men than women in Chicago. Four years ago the majority of men had dwindled to 44,888.

It is said the same situation prevails in other large cities. One reason advanced is the advent of the business girl in large numbers in industrial centers since the World war. In many instances this class of workers has replaced men and forced them to seek livings elsewhere.

ARE YOU, TOO, NATURALLY SKINNY?

Add 5 Lbs. in 1 Week or No Cost!

Here's the quickest way yet for thin, pale run-down folks—even if "naturally" skinny—to put on those needed extra pounds of good solid flesh—and do it quick! Gains of 15 to 20 lbs. in 1 month—5 lbs. in a week—are not uncommon now.

Kelpamali, the new mineral concentrate from the sea, gets right down to the cause of thin, underweight conditions and adds weight—3 ways in 1—

First, Kelpamali's natural minerals help produce digestive juices which alone enable you to digest fats and starches—the weight-making elements in food. Second, Kelpamali's NATURAL IODINE is a mineral needed by the vital organ which regulates metabolism—the process through which the body is constantly building from solid flesh, new strength and energy. 3 tablets contain more iron and copper than 1 lb. of spinach or 7½ lbs. of tomatoes; more calcium than 6 eggs; more phosphorus than 15½ lbs. carrots; more NATURAL IODINE than 1600 lbs. of beef.

Try Kelpamali for a week. You'll be delighted with the results. It costs but little at
